

Nai-Wen Chang

Education

University of Minnesota, PhD, RMT

Current position

Adjunct assistant professor, Graduate Institute of Audiology and Speech Therapy in Special Education Department and Music Department of National Kaohsiung
Normal University, Taiwan Kaohsiung City, 80201, Taiwan
886-7-7172930 ext. 3301 or 3302

Music Therapist, Child Development and Behavior Department, Children's Hospital of China Medicine Hospital, Taichung, Taiwan
886-4-22052121 ext. 2328 or 2329 // E-mail: mt.nwchang@gmail.com

Experiences

Postdoctoral Researcher, Graduate Institute of Audiology and Speech Therapy,
Kaohsiung Normal University, Kaohsiung City, Taiwan (2009-2013)

Music Therapist, Department of Rehabilitation, Chang Gung Memorial Hospital,
Kaohsiung, Taiwan (1996-2003)

Counselor, Rephasia communication practices devices for aphasia (2012- current)

President, Music Therapy Association of Taiwan (2012-2015)

Instructor, Music therapy workshops for allied professionals & counselors, Malaysia

Research Interests

-Melodic intonation therapy method in Chinese version (MIT-C) for aphasia

-Music listening skills training for children with cochlear implant recipients

-Music therapy for Rett Syndrome

Publication (Past five years)

Journal Papers

Chang, N. W. (2012). The exploration of designed melodic and rhythmic spoken languages in Melodic Intonation Therapy method-Chinese version (MIT-C).

Journal of the Speech-Language-Hearing Association of Taiwan, 29, p.1-21.

Chang, N. W. (2010). The application of a modified Melodic Intonation Therapy in Chinese (MIT-C) for adult with non-fluent aphasia: A case report. Journal of the Speech-Language-Hearing Association of Taiwan, 26, p.35-56.

Conferences Papers

Chang, N. W., Tseng, C. H., & Hsu, C. W. (2014, May 15). The Performances of Group Treatment for Aphasic Patients – Music Therapy vs. Speech Therapy. Paper presented at 2014 2nd International Symposium of Music and Health Promotion in Proceeding of 2014 2nd International Symposium of Music and Health Promotion, Taiwan (Oral).

Nai-Wen Chang, Chin-Hsing Tseng, Cher-Wei Hsu, Yi Chang, Ping-Hsin Chang, Jen-Wen Hung, & Shu-Fen Sun (2013, Oct.31- Nov. 3). Treatment effectiveness of melodic intonation therapy and response elaboration training for aphasic patients in Taiwan. Paper presented at the 9th Asia Pacific Conference on Speech Language & Hearing (APSSLH), Taichung City, Taiwan.

Tseng, C. H., Chang, N. W., Chang, Y., Hsu, C. W., Chang, P. H., Sun, S. F., & Hung, J.W. (2012, Jan. 4-7). Does melodic intonation therapy facilitate language in persons with aphasia? Paper presented at Global Conference on Disorders in Auditory Processing, Literacy, Language and Related Science. Hong Kong, China.

Chang, Y., Tseng, C. H., Hsin, A. L., Chang, P. H., Chang, N. W., Hsu, C. W., Sun, S. F., Hung, J. W. (2012, Jan. 4-7). Can response elaboration training extend the length of utterance in persons with nonfluent aphasia? Paper presented at the Global Conference on Disorders in Auditory Processing, Literacy, Language and Related Sciences, New Territories, HK.

Chang, N.W. (2011, July 5-9). Increasing Auditory Attention of a Young Cochlear Implant Recipient via Music Therapy Programs. Paper presented at the 13th World Congress of Music Therapy, Seoul, Korea.

Chang, N. -W. (2010, November 17-21). How music therapists perceive their work-related well-being—A hybrid approach. The 2010 American Music Therapy Association conference, Cleveland, Ohio.

Chang, N. W., Tseng, C. H., Hsu, H. C. (2010, November 17-21). Does melodic intonation therapy work for tone language aphasic patients? The 2010 American Music Therapy Association conference, Cleveland, Ohio.

Book

Chang, N. W. (2004, 2016). Music therapy for children: Music therapy clinical experiences in Taiwan (in Chinese), 2nd ed., Psychological Publishing, Taiwan.